WHO'S WHO IN THE CAST

DAME MAY WHITTY (Mrs. Bramson) long considered one of the great figures of the theatre, Dame May Whitty has been on the stage for more than 50 years. Her first New York appearance was in 1895 with Ellen Terry and Sir Henry Irving. Three years before, in England, she had married Ben Webster, and today in 1946, they are still the ideally happy couple. During the first World War Dame May Whitty was head of the Women's Emergency Corps in England and for her services she was created Dame Commander, Order of The British Empire, by the late King George V. It was not until 1937, at the age of 72, that Dame May Whitty first went to Hollywood. Her first role was that of Mrs. Bramson in "Night Must Fall" which she had played with superb distinction on both the London and New York stage. Other pictures Dame May Whitty has made include "Mrs. Miniver," "The White Cliffs of Dover," "Gaslight," and "Madame Curie."

WALTER STARKEY (Dan) a rising young actor recently discharged after a long tour of duty in the Navy. Mr. Starkey was last seen on Broadway in the controversial play "This, Too, Shall Pass."
